

HR COLLEGE OF COMMERCE AND ECONOMICS
CHURCHGATE
ACADEMIC YEAR 20-21

CRITERION VI

6.5.2

The institution reviews its teaching learning process, structures & methodologies of operations and learning outcomes at periodic intervals through IQAC set up as per norms and recorded the incremental improvement in various activities

Every effort is made to adapt the Lecture Method to include 'Improved Lecturing Practice', which entails Discussions, Demonstrations, Buzz Groups, Question and Answer sessions and Computer-Assisted Learning, all of which encourage active student participation. The CAL (Computer-Assisted Learning) Method has revolutionized teaching at H.R. as it has introduced 'The Demonstrative Method' of teaching. Project-based learning, Case Study, Role Play, Simulations and Games Brainstorming Sessions have become common methods of teaching at H.R. Students are encouraged to undertake research on assigned projects, individually or in groups. Guest Speakers from industry help keep students abreast of contemporary developments and have proved especially useful in the areas of Banking, Insurance, Finance and Management, where a topic requires a dimension of industry to be shared with the students. With the strong industry linkages enjoyed by the College, quality. Technology has been well integrated into the curriculum and the teaching methodology at H.R. Video Films are shown for a variety of subjects, followed by Group Discussions, where students are encouraged to debate issues. The College library possesses hundreds of DVDs, VCDs and CDs on wide-ranging subjects to be used in class. Proactive efforts in this direction include creating state-of-the-art infrastructure and introducing techno-savvy conference rooms, seminar rooms, classrooms and computer laboratories. All staff and students have internet access as the college has been made wire free. Tutorial work or 'Practicals' involve problem solving, analyzing and decision making, and ensure personalized attention from the teacher. Buzz Groups, often created amongst students during a lecture, are yet another reflection of the highly interactive classrooms at H.R. The teacher poses a question or makes a statement and asks students to discuss the subject among themselves in small groups of two or three. 'Buzz' levels are raised in the class, reflecting the intensity of student application.
